The path to your apprenticeship.

You can submit all of your application documents electronically. A complete application should include a CV, references from your last two semesters, a cover letter, Check S2 (from the north-western Switzerland educational area) and a multi-check (for applications for a Commercial employee with Federal VET Diploma apprenticeship).

In the interview, we want to get to know you better as a person. We are eager to find out why you want to join this apprenticeship in particular and why you have chosen Roche. At the same time, it's important to us that you get an impression of Roche so you can then decide whether you would like to complete your apprenticeship at Roche.

Following the written/verbal agreement, we will prepare your apprenticeship contract and provide you with all further information.

Choosing and trying out a career.

As part of the recruitment process, Roche uses an online test that you must complete on your own. If your application has been successfully submitted to us and we would like to get to know you better, we will send you a link to the test. This contains various short test modules that are adapted to each of the professional groups. There are also questions about your personality – by asking these, we would like to find out whether you as a person are a good fit with Roche. This test lasts 60 to 90 minutes and you do not need to prepare for it.

Depending on the professional group, you will be able to prove yourself after a positive interview at Roche. You will receive more information about the test assignment at the interview.

Are your career aspirations not yet strong enough for you to want to apply? Would you like to get a better idea about Roche or our apprenticeships? If so, we have two great options for you:

A three-hour session gives you the opportunity to carry out a variety of experiments and tasks from different occupational fields and discover your predispositions and talents in practice.

Trying out a career

When trying out a career, you can get a brief insight into specific apprenticeships. Over two to three hours, you will gain first-hand experience of the various apprenticeships with Federal VET Diploma offered by Roche and meet current Roche apprentices, who also lead the events.
